Local Activity: Philadelphia Premium Outlets

The dorm students' local activity this month was going to the Philadelphia Premium Outlets in Pottstown, a huge (553,000 square ft!) outlet mall. The students got time to shop for anything they'd like, with the best deals, usually going up to 65%. The dorm students also got to eat at their food court. Overall, it was a fun and relaxing day for the dorm students as they finish off their 3-day weekend.

Sadie Hawkins Winter Formal

On February 17, Conwell-Egan Catholic High School hosted the 2023 Winter Formal/Sadie Hawkins Dance. Sadie Hawkins is a dance to which girls ask their desired date. Students wear semi-formal outfits: collared shirts and pants for the gentlemen and a nice dress for the ladies. Because this was the last dance before Prom this year, students were more engaged and enjoyed the party to the fullest.

Teacher Swap

As a part of Catholic Schools Week, CEC had the annual Teacher Swap on February 1st. Teacher Swap is a day where students can dress up and spend the day with a teacher. Tickets were sold for a week during lunch periods prior to Teacher Swap day, and students were chosen via a raffle drawing. There was some intense competition between students who wanted to be chosen. On Teacher Swap Day, all chosen students had a lot of fun in class, teaching their own lesson to their peers.

Guest Speaker: Taku Yhim

Takhyun Lim, a Supima-Design Competition winning fashion designer, zoomed in to speak to the dorm students about his career path. We learned about what fashion designing is, and the steps one needs to take in order to become a fashion designer. After the presentation, we had a brief Q&A session. It was a great time for students who pursue a career in fashion design to learn more about the field.
