Preparing for Your Trip

Spending Money

CEC Boarding recommends that each student bring approximately $2,500 for an academic year in traveler's checks or cash. This money should finance any personal expenses during the year. Your boarding staff is not responsible for covering your personal expenses such as school lunch or personal items.

Medical Arrangements

While you are in the US, you will be covered by your own traveler's insurance plan. This plan will cover you for any injuries or sicknesses that you may experience during your stay in the U.S. Pre-existing conditions, routine check-ups, and immunizations will not be covered.

We recommend that you make the following preparations before you leave your home country:

- Schedule all routine doctors' appointments before leaving your home country including annual medical check-ups including vision and dental check-ups.
- Bring a copy of any important medical information including notes from your doctor, medication prescriptions, vision prescriptions, etc.
- Make sure that your immunization record is current and that you have all the necessary immunizations. You will need a complete current immunization record before you will be allowed to attend school in the United States. Requirements vary by state.

Packing

- Planning for a year or semester abroad can be a difficult task. Many students like to bring items that remind them of their home. Please try not to bring too many personal items. Airlines have a limit to how much you can bring on the flight.
- Usually you will be allowed two suitcases (to check-in) and one carry-on bag. It is a good idea to call the airline to find out about the luggage requirements. Airport security in the US is very strict and you may be asked to open your bag and show the contents.

Arriving in the United States

- When you arrive in United States, the boarding staff will meet you at the airport. Once you have gathered your luggage and met with your party, you will leave the airport and go to your new room.

ABOUT ST. ANTHONY RESIDENCE HALL

Conwell-Egan Catholic High School is a private Catholic high school located in Fairless Hills, Pennsylvania. Students are able to build character by serving others, achieve academic excellence, and excel in scholastic activities. Students will also learn leadership, feel a sense of pride, and become a part of a community as they achieve their personal goals. Students will also be able to participate in a variety of clubs and activities that will help them find their niche among students with similar interests. This will help in making new friends and gaining confidence.

AnB Education is a leading international student's organization with over 27 years of experience of being committed to cultural experiences along with academic development. Beginning from Fall 2020, AnB Education began partnering with Conwell-Egan High School to operate their dormitory to give students a safe, "at home" environment where they could experience everything the school has to offer while having the support of experienced and devoted staff. AnB Education will push students beyond their comfort zone while supporting them throughout their journey. Students who live in Saint Anthony's Residence Hall will be monitored by the boarding staff of AnB Education which is staffed 24-hours a day, seven days a week. The boarding staff also offers academic support and consulting to ensure that the boarding students are able to develop skills, reach their academic goals, and give them an active and rich social and recreational outlet.

LOCATION AND SECURITY

St. Anthony Residence Hall (SARH) provides a secure environment for international students who are attending Conwell Egan Catholic High School (CEC). SARH is a recently renovated residence hall located right next to the main school building on the school's campus. Fairless Hills is a safe and quiet city 30 minutes away from Princeton University, 40 minutes from University of Pennsylvania in downtown Philadelphia, and one and a half hours away from New York City. The local YMCA is within walking distance from the dorm and there is an Asian market five minutes away by car.

Safety is the first priority for all the students. It is important that students know the quickest way out of the building in case of a fire or any other emergency. Students will be informed about fire safety and other emergency procedures upon their arrival at SARH. Fire drills are conducted periodically so that students can learn and practice the evacuation routes. Failure to cooperate during fire drills will result in disciplinary action.

Boarding staff will be on site 24 hours to ensure the students' safety and help with any concerns. The Boarding Staff's role is vital to the growth and development of the students. Each staff member is held responsible for the students in the dorm and the welfare of the students is put into their care. This involves the efficient day-to-day running of the residence hall and includes the establishment of rules and routines that are consistent with the school's rules. The Boarding Staff sets out duties that all students are to follow on a weekly basis and are managed by the student leaders and staff.

The Boarding Staff will communicate with the students and respond to the students' concerns or questions. The Boarding Staff will send monthly reports to overseas agencies or parents.

BOARDING FACILITIES

On the first floor, there is the Boarding Staff office, dining room, recreational room, pantry, main office, coordinator's office, server room, and storage room. On the second floor, there are the students' bedroom, a recreation room, study room, student storage, and a public vacuum. In the basement, there is a free laundry room.

They may also enter rooms without students' permission when there is evidence or probable cause of an emergency warranting immediate entry, such as, but not limited to, the presence of smoking, fire, flooding, suspicious odors, emergencies, illness, danger to others, or improper or illicit conduct.

Electric Appliances

All electric appliances brought into the boarding houses by students should be tagged according to Occupational Health and Safety standards. Bullying

Bullying means written, verbal or physical conduct that adversely affects the ability of one or more students to participate in or benefit from the school's educational programs or activities by placing the student (or students) in reasonable fear of physical harm. This includes conduct that is based on a student's actual or perceived race, color, national origin, sex, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, religion or any other distinguishing characteristics that may be included by the state or local educational agency. This also includes association with a person or group with one or more of the above mentioned characteristics, whether actual or perceived.

Sexual Harassment and Prohibited Harassment on the Basis of Sex/Gender

Harassment refers to unwelcome sexual conduct or behavior that is personally offensive or threatening and that has the effect of impairing morale, interfering with a student's educational performance, or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive educational environment. Harassment on the basis of sex also violates this policy. Harassment may be verbal, physical, visual, or online.

Sexual Conduct

CEC Boarding and CEC High School recognizes that sexuality is important during adolescence, and therefore strives to provide education and support services to help students address all aspects of sexuality, including sexual identity and expression. However, sexual activity involving students of any age, even if consensual, is not allowed while students are under CEC Boarding's care.

Students are expected to be conscious of what constitutes appropriate behavior. STUDENT ABUSE

“Student abuse” can be defined as causing or permitting any harmful or offensive contact on a student’s body; and, any communication or transaction of any kind which humiliates, shames, or frightens the student. Some student development experts go a bit further, and define student abuse as any act or omission, which fails to nurture or in the upbringing of the students.

The Student Abuse Prevention and Treatment defines student abuse and neglect as: “at a minimum, any recent act or failure to act on the part of the boarding staff, which results in death serious physical or emotional harm, sexual abuse or exploitation, or an act or failure to act which presents an imminent risk of serious harm.”

A student of any age, sex, race, religion, and socioeconomic background can fall victim to student abuse and neglect. There are many factors that may contribute to the occurrence of student abuse and neglect. Boarding staff may be more likely to maltreat their students if they abuse drugs or alcohol. Some boarding staff may not be able to cope with the stress resulting from the changes and may experience difficulty in caring for their students.

Types of Student Abuse

Emotional Abuse: (also known as: verbal abuse, mental abuse, and psychological maltreatment) includes acts or the failures to act by boarding staff or caretakers that have caused or could cause, serious behavioral, cognitive, emotional, or mental disorders. This can include boarding staff/caretakers using extreme and/or bizarre forms of punishment, such as confinement in a closet or dark room or being tied to a chair for long periods of time or threatening or terrorizing a student. Less severe acts, but no less damaging are belittling or rejecting treatment, using derogatory terms to describe the student or habitual blaming.

Neglect: the failure to provide for the student’s basic needs. Neglect can be physical, educational, or emotional. Physical neglect can include not providing adequate food, supervision, or proper weather protection (heat). Educational neglect includes failure to provide appropriate schooling or special education- all needs, allowing excessive truancies. Psychological neglect includes the lack of any emotional support and love, never attending to the student, drug and alcohol abuse including allowing the student to participate in drug and alcohol use.

Physical Abuse: the inflicting of physical injury upon a student. This may include, burning, hitting, punching, shaking, kicking, beating, or otherwise harming a student. The boarding staff may not have intended to hurt the student, the injury is not an accident. It may, however, been the result of over-discipline or physical punishment that is inappropriate to the student’s age.

Sexual Abuse: the inappropriate sexual behavior with a student. It includes fondling a student’s genitals, making the student fondle the adult’s genitals, intercourse, incest, rape, sodomy, exhibitionism and sexual exploitation. To be considered student abuse these acts have to be committed by a person responsible for the care of a student (for example, a Local Coordinator, a boarding staff, or a teacher) or related to the student. If anyone commits these acts, it would be considered sexual assault and handled solely by the police and criminal courts.

How do you report suspected student abuse?

If you find that anyone has done any of the above-described activities to you, keep your distance to this person and report it immediately to below phone numbers:

1-267-904-1270 (Jaewook[Jay] Ha, CEC Boarding Student Coordinator) or Toll-free 1-888-361-8588 (AnB Education National Office); or 911. The above numbers are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

CEC Boarding will take immediate action, and a report will be filed immediately to the police to take immediate action and to inform students' parents and overseas agents.

If it is under an extremely urgent situation, which you think can be very harmful to you or even life-threatening, please call 911 immediately. Just tell them where you are located; the police will be there immediately.

Please remember that it is our responsibility to provide you with a safe environment during your exchange program in the U.S. We will do whatever we can to protect you and to let you have a pleasant experience while in the U.S.

*Students who fail to adhere any rules at SARH will be assigned penalty points and subjected to disciplinary action at each stage
